

Faith That Risks
The Challenge of the Wilderness
Exodus 16:1-35 (page 49)

Sunday, August 19, 2012

Frank Mascaro

It's in the wilderness where I learn that:

- I can be confident in God (16:1–8)

- God's glory will be revealed (16:9–11)

- God will provide for my needs (16:12–30)

- God desires that I leave a Godly legacy (16:31–3)

Bringing it home...

When God calls me to a faith that risks in some new area what do I struggle with the most? Why? _____

How does my view of God affect my ability to trust and follow Him?
How can I grow in this area in my life? _____

When was the last time that I took the risk to follow God in some area of my life? What happened? _____

How would I classify my life of faith? Vibrant and growing?
Indifferent? Casual? Stagnant? If you asked someone who knows you well, what would be their description? _____
